

The image shows a highly detailed, dark metal door set within a stone frame. The door is divided into a grid of panels. The central panel features a coat of arms with a shield, a crown, and a bird. The surrounding panels are filled with intricate, repeating geometric and floral patterns. The door is flanked by stone columns with decorative capitals. The overall style is characteristic of Neapolitan Baroque architecture.

IL PORTALE E I BATTENTI

DEL PALAZZO DI DIOMEDE CARAFA
IN NAPOLI

EDIZIONI
SAN GENNARO